

It Shifted While You Were Looking

It shifted while you were looking.

Not before.
Not after.

During.

You caught it
mid-change.

Not fixed
into one thing.

Not held in place.

You saw it
one way—

and then another.

Same place.
Same moment.

But not the same anymore.

It didn't stay
what it was.